

Bid Writing Services

The Public Sector spends £175 billion a year on goods and services which you may be able to contribute to and profit from

Selling to the Public Sector is not always an easy task.

PWL experts can take
the work load from you and deliver improved
success rates

PART OF THE PWL CHAIN REACTION PROGRAMME

Let PWL experts examine your process and take you into successful tenders

Some organisations need to compete in a tender process to increase their business, but don't want to prepare the bid response documents themselves.

There are many reasons for this including:

- Lack of time
- Lack of bid writing experience
- Lack of success in previous bids
- Lack of enthusiasm

So why not let our highly experienced bid writing team do the work for you? We have some of the most experienced bid writers in the country – all selected for an enviable success record of up to 80% of the bids they have prepared.

We have practical experience and actually train others how to write winning bids.

Whether your issue is a PQQ (pre-qualification questionnaire), a tender or an RFI (request for proposal) we can take your pain away.

In some cases we write the whole document, or in others we check and "improve" documentation that you have prepared yourselves.

In all cases we let you know how much our service will cost before we even start writing – so there are no unpleasant surprises regarding fees.

Our fees are £800 (+VAT) per day – charged in ¼ day units. And for our team a day is at least ten hours.

We work on tenders for a very wide range of products and services and have specialists in some complex categories.

Whether you are trying to win a contract in the public or private sector, working with PWL will improve your chances of winning.
